

Preparation for S149– Sharing the Water of Life

Like water flowing to the sea, we return from the mountains and rivers and quiet places where we ran out some time of our days in recent months, returning to this place. Joining together, we comprise this sea of continuity, filled with myriad currents carrying along our spiritual and emotional journeys in a cycle of change: ocean, mist, rain, trickle, stream, river, ocean, that keeps us alive and changing.

- Rev. Elizabeth Lerner, UU Church of Silver Springs, MD

This session is timed with our annual Homecoming Service. Usually each of us only has a moment to speak in the service, and often we're left wishing we could hear or say more. So we'd like to offer the opportunity for small groups to share in depth about our summer journeys and experiences but, more importantly, to spend time reflecting on how they have affected us.

1. Where did you gather the water?
2. Why was this place significant?
3. How were you changed by your experience of this place?
